Publish Case Reports in Thoracic Oncology Journal

Authors seeking to publish case reports in a thoracic oncology journal can submit their work to the Journal of Lung Cancer Case Reports. The journal accepts original case reports that address thoracic malignancies, lung cancer management, and multidisciplinary oncology care. Each submission undergoes peer review to ensure clinical relevance, ethical integrity, and educational value. Open-access publication allows accepted thoracic oncology case reports to reach a wide global audience, supporting academic collaboration and continued medical education. Clinicians and researchers are encouraged to share their thoracic oncology case reports to advance cancer knowledge and improve patient outcomes.
